Copy styles and paragraph numbering between open Word documents

Style Copier allows you to copy styles between any two Word documents that are open on your screen. It improves on Word's built in Organizer feature because it copies styles and numbering reliably, it's easier to access and it works with open documents – Word's Organizer only works with one open document at a time. Style Copier is part of the ProductivityApps Stylist suite of style utilities.

Stylist Style Copier is especially handy when your documents are stored in a document management system like DOCS Open or MailSite. Document management systems store documents in folders that aren't accessible to users so they aren't available to Word's Organizer feature. Stylist Style Copier works with open documents so it can copy styles between documents regardless of where a document management system saves them.

Easy to use

Select the document you want to copy from, the document you want to copy to, the styles you want to copy and click "Copy styles".

Style Copier checks to make sure that all style settings needed for paragraph numbering are copied. It even makes your numbering more stable because it checks to make sure the settings are secure in both the source and the copy. If a style's automatic numbering isn't set up correctly the numbering can become broken or corrupt.

Stylist Style Generator makes it easy to automatically create stable, reliable styles and automatic paragraph numbering. For more information about Stylist Style Generator please visit www.ProductivityApps.com.

Extendible, customizable

Stylist Style Copier is available as standalone utility, as well as a bundled component of the Stylist Style Generator add-in for Word. Style Copier can be customized and extended, as well as integrated with other add-ins, custom menus and toolbars. Consulting services are available to assist with customization, integration, and adding new features.
